

Emergency Preparedness Tips

If you live or work in the city of Portland or Benton, Clackamas, Clark, Columbia, Linn, Marion (northern communities), Multnomah, Washington counties, visit www.publicalerts.org/signup to register for emergency notifications via home phone, cell phone, VoIP, text and emails.

For electronic copies of emergency forms, publications, links and other information visit: clackamas.us/emergency/calendar.html

Develop a Family Emergency Plan

Research has proven that if you plan and practice in advance, you will be more resilient in an actual disaster.

Important: review and practice the plan with your entire family twice a year (during time changes, for example).

Here are a few tips:

- Identify an out-of-state emergency contact and instruct family to check in with them during emergencies and if separated.
- Complete the information on the opposite page and share with family and friends.
- Identify evacuation routes from home and designate a nearby location to meet to make sure everyone is okay.
- Know when and how to turn off water, electricity, and gas.
- Know emergency procedures in your workplace and for your children's schools.

Assemble a Disaster Supplies Kit

Help yourself and your family remain self-sufficient during a disaster. Although putting a kit together may seem overwhelming, you can assemble a kit in small achievable steps. You may be surprised how many useful items you already have at home.

Remember to include:

- Supplies for children, pets, elderly and family members with additional needs.
- Copies of important documents, such as financial information.

Know What to do Before and During Emergencies

Review hazards that can threaten your family and know how to respond.

For example:

- Know what risks are associated with common hazards.
- Take protective actions, such as Drop-Cover-Hold On during an earthquake.
- Receive CPR and first aid training.
- Donate blood.

There are many ways to help you become more resilient when disaster strikes.

Landslides

Landslides may move at avalanche speeds, rapidly enveloping or crushing anything in their path (trees, boulders, people, cars, houses, etc.). Conversely, land may creep along, moving fractions of inches per year.

Causes

- Steep slopes, saturated and weakened by water pressure or erosion, may give way to gravity.
- Rain, snow, broken water pipes or overflowing drainage may be contributing factors.
- Rivers and ocean surf may undercut banks.
- Wildfires kill vegetation that absorbs water and holds earth in place.

What you can do

- Learn about landslide risks in your area by contacting your local emergency management office and looking at your local Hazard Mitigation Plan.
- Be sure to clear storm drains to prevent localized flooding and ground saturation.
- Plant or nurture vegetation to decrease runoff, while avoiding risks of fire with foliage too close to buildings.

Watch for

- Progressively leaning trees or fences.
- Cracks that slowly widen in the ground, pavement, sidewalks, roads or driveways.
- Outside walls, sidewalks or stairs that pull away from the building.
- Bulging ground at the base of a slope.
- Water pooling where it shouldn't.
- Fallen rocks, collapsed pavement, or debris flow along steep slopes.
- Unusual sounds or rumbling that may signal moving boulders, trees, or other dangerous conditions.

Access and Functional Needs

If you or someone you know has a disability or needs assistance to live independently, take additional steps to prepare for emergencies.

Get Informed

- Know what type of natural disasters might occur in your area. Take this into account during preparation.

Make a Communications Plan

- Create a personal support network, and prepare them to assist you with your medical equipment, service animals, and transportation needs.
- Teach someone in your support network to use your life saving devices and medicine.
- Make sure they have a spare key to your residence and know where your emergency supplies are located.
- Have a cell phone and paper contact list ready of regional hospitals, doctors, neighbors, and family and friends—both in and out of your area.
- Talk to your medical services provider about their backup plan, including power failures and treatments during an emergency.
- Practice your plan!

Build Two Emergency Kits

1. This kit includes survival basics: water, food, radio, flashlight, batteries, and first aid for at least one week or longer.
2. This kit contains important medical, personal, and insurance documents and at least one week's supply of medicine.

Technology

Computers, tablets, smart phones, and social media make connecting with friends and family easier than ever before. Use these tools safely and appropriately.

Technology during a disaster

- Communicating with family and friends will be a high priority in a disaster, but circumstances may impact your ability to reach them.
- Don't call others if it's not an emergency. Staying off the phone can save a life by allowing 911 calls to go through.
- If phone lines are overloaded, texting may still work.
- Make sure you have alternate ways to contact people you need to communicate with.

Cyber Security

- Secure all of your internet devices including computer, tablets and smart phones with a password; and change it regularly.
- On your computer, use security software and keep it up-to-date. Be skeptical – if a web page or e-mail seems suspicious, don't click!
- Smart Phones: Install phone apps only from reputable sources.
- Social media: Limit the amount of personal info you share and check your privacy settings.
- Shopping: Check your credit and debit card statements frequently and report any suspicious charges quickly.
- Coffee Shops: Open Wi-Fi networks can expose your credentials and password to anyone within Wi-Fi range. Consider paying your cellular provided for the ability to create a "tethered" connection through your phone to protect your communications.

April

Prepare. Train. Volunteer.

Prepare

Personal preparedness increases your ability to recover from a disaster. Do you know what risk you are most likely to face? Do you know what to do during an earthquake, flood or wildfire? Become informed about the natural disasters that may occur in your location. Create a family disaster plan and emergency kits. You should consider building two kits, one to stay in your home and one you can take with you in your vehicle if you need to evacuate.

Train

Engage your family by training them on your emergency plan. Pick a date this April to test, adjust your plan and train your family. Do this annually to adjust for changes in work locations, schools, etc.

Volunteer

In addition to being personally prepared for an emergency, you can make a real difference by volunteering to help your neighbors and your community. There are many different types of volunteer opportunities for varying levels of experience and expertise. Do you know a lot about radios? Are you a nurse or doctor? Are you a social person who knows everyone in your neighborhood? If you have any of these abilities, skills or knowledge you should consider volunteering.

For more information about emergency kits, plans and a full list of volunteer opportunities please visit the calendar website at:

Volcanoes and Avalanches

During a Volcanic Eruption

- Stay indoors if possible. Close windows, doors and dampers and place damp towels at thresholds of these and other draft sources.
- Turn off and cover machinery to avoid damage; move indoors if possible.
- Ensure livestock are sheltered and have clean food and water.
- Avoid low-lying areas where poisonous gases are most dangerous.

After a Volcanic Eruption

- Volcanic ash consists of tiny jagged pieces of rock and glass. Ash can turn daylight into darkness and cause breathing problems, injuries and power outages, damage equipment and disable communications.
- Check radio, television or the internet for updated information.
- Cover mouth and nose with a filter mask or wet cloth.
- Wear goggles to protect eyes and keep skin covered to avoid irritation or burns.
- Stay indoors.

Avalanches

- Take an avalanche safety course or clinic.
- Always carry avalanche equipment including a beacon. Beacons require training so plan ahead.
- Research your route and snow conditions in the exact location(s) you plan to ski, snowboard or hike. Always check avalanche conditions before a trip.
- Recognize warnings: recent avalanches, heavy snowfall in the past 24 hours, windblown snow, and significantly warmer weather.
- If buried, try to make an air pocket in front of your face and remain calm.

Animals in Disaster

Plan for Pets

- Take animals with you if you need to evacuate. Only as a last resort should animals be left behind.
- Many emergency shelters cannot accept animals. Find out which hotels/shelters allow animals before disaster strikes.
- If you have to leave your animals at home, keep them inside a secure area. Leave at least a 10-day supply of dry food and water. Put signs on windows and doors indicating the number and type of animals inside and your contact information.
- Keep your pets' vaccinations and ID tags up to date.
- Be sure ID tags are on collars and consider a microchip.
- Prepare a pet emergency kit with leashes, collars, portable carriers, water, food, medications, sanitation materials, immunization records, first-aid kit, and photos to prove ownership.
- Don't leave pets in vehicles, tethered, or crated without you.
- Your pet's behavior may change after a crisis, becoming more aggressive or self-protective.

Plan for Livestock

- Post emergency contact numbers on barn and/or pasture fence.
- Have a supply of feed at a separate location.
- Involve family and neighbors in an evacuation plan.
- Make a kit with leads, halters, first aid, quieting hoods, water, photos and a copy of your ownership papers.

Hot weather emergencies

Heat

- Heat cramps and exhaustion are signs your body is overheated and dehydrated.
- Heat stroke is a MEDICAL EMERGENCY. Symptoms include warm, flushed skin, absence of normal sweating, very high temperatures, delirium, unconsciousness or seizures. Seek medical attention immediately.
- Drink plenty of non-alcoholic fluids.
- NEVER leave people or animals in cars or other enclosed spaces. Car temperatures can rise to deadly levels quickly.

Lightning Safety

- When possible, find shelter inside a building or fully enclosed vehicle.
- If lightning strikes while you're outside, crouch down and place your hands over your ears. Keep a minimum of 15 feet from other people.
- If outdoors, avoid water, high ground, tall trees, open spaces, and metal objects.

Water Safety

- Tell someone where you are going, when you expect to return, and where to call if you don't return on time.
- Know your limits as a swimmer.
- Rivers can run cold and swift in spring and early summer. Jumping into cold water can literally take your breath away!
- Wear a properly fitted personal flotation device. All children 12 and younger must wear a life vest when in a boat. Know all local boating laws.
- Wear sunscreen.

Fire Safety

Protect your home from wildfire

- Create a 30-foot non-combustible defensible space around your home. Stack firewood away from the home.
- Trim branches along driveways so that they are 14 feet off the ground, 14 feet from other surfaces and 10 feet from the roof and power lines.
- Use non-combustible roofing materials. Keep gutters free from debris and screen vents under eaves and decks.
- Keep yards watered and mowed. Plant low growing, less flammable plants near homes.
- Post your address in a location that is visible from all directions for at least 150 feet.

Campfires

- Call before you go – Call your local forestry or fire district to learn if there any current campfire restrictions.
- Select the right spot – Maintained campgrounds with established fire pits. If campfires are allowed outside campgrounds, avoid areas near your tent, structures, vehicles, shrubs and trees, and be aware of low-hanging branches overhead. Clear the site down to soil, at least five feet on all sides, and circle your campfire site with rocks.
- Keep your campfire small.
- NEVER use gasoline.
- Always have water and fire tools on site – Have a shovel and a bucket of water nearby to extinguish any escaped embers.
- Remember when you leave drown all embers with water, stir the coals and drown again until it is DEAD OUT.

Family Preparedness

Disasters can strike anywhere at any time. Your family may not be together when it happens, so it's important for you to plan and practice for various scenarios.

Your Family's Emergency Plan should answer these basic questions.

- Who is the family emergency contact?
- What will your child's school do in case there is a disaster?
- Where can pets be sheltered?
- Where should we meet up after the disaster is over?
- How do we shut-off utilities to our residence?
- How do we get in communication with each other?

Basic Disaster Supply Kit

- Water, one gallon per person, per day for one week or more, for drinking and sanitation.
- Food, at least one week or more supply of non-perishable food.
- Battery-powered or hand-crank radio.
- Flashlight and extra batteries.
- First aid kit and whistle to signal for help.
- Dust mask, moist towelettes, and garbage bags.
- Wrench or pliers to turn off utilities.
- Manual can opener and local paper maps.
- Cell phone charger (solar charger).

Family Specific Additions

- Medicine, glasses, infant formula, pet food, children's activities, copies of documents (insurance, medical, and/or financial).

Earthquakes and Tsunamis

Earthquake Preparation

- Anchor and secure heavy appliances and furniture to wall studs.
- Move pictures, mirrors and glass objects away from beds.
- Learn how and when to turn off water, gas and electricity.
- Keep hard-soled shoes and a flashlight under bed.

Earthquake Response

- When the ground begins to shake, “DROP, COVER, AND HOLD ON”.
- If indoors, get under a sturdy table. If in bed, protect your head with a pillow.
- If outdoors, find a clear spot away from buildings and trees and stay until the shaking stops.
- If in a vehicle, pull over to a clear location until shaking stops.
- If you smell gas, leave your home and notify the gas company.
- Only turn off gas as a last resort, if you can do so safely.
- Assume downed power lines are live and STAY AWAY.
- Use phones ONLY for life-threatening emergencies.
- Expect and be ready for aftershocks.

Tsunami Response

- A tsunami is a sea wave caused by an underwater earthquake or landslide displacing the ocean water.
- When at the coast, know tsunami evacuation information for the area. Follow tsunami evacuation signs.
- Once the earthquake has stopped, go inland and to higher ground.
- Do not return until the alert has been cancelled and emergency officials have advised it's safe to return.

Vaccinations protect against disease

- Know which vaccines you and your family need.
- Get vaccines on time to prevent illness before you're exposed.
- Protect others. Unvaccinated children and adults can spread disease. Infants, elderly and people with compromised immune systems are especially vulnerable.

Flu Prevention

- Get the yearly flu vaccine for everyone 6 months of age and older before the start of the flu season.
- Avoid those who are sick.
- If you are sick with the flu, stay home from work or school to prevent spreading flu to others.
- Cover your nose and mouth with a tissue when you cough or sneeze. Cough or sneeze into the crook of your elbow rather than into your hands.
- Wash your hands often with soap and water to reduce the spread of germs.
- Avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth. Germs spread this way.

Breastfeeding plays an important role during emergencies

- Human milk is nutritionally complete and readily available without dependence on supplies.
- It helps to prevent hypothermia and protects against infectious diseases, especially diarrhea and respiratory illnesses.
- Hormones released during breastfeeding reduce maternal stress and anxiety.
- Mothers pass protective disease antibodies to their babies through breast milk.
- Support women in their decision to breastfeed.

Winter Safety

Tree Safety Tips

- Choose a holiday tree with green needles that do not fall off when touched.
- Set the tree at least 3 feet away from heat sources.
- Add water to the stand daily.
- Never use lit candles on or near a tree.
- Always turn off the tree lights before leaving home or going to bed.
- If purchasing an artificial tree, make sure it's labeled as fire retardant.

Poison Control, 800-222-1222

- Holly berries, mistletoe and poinsettias are poisonous if swallowed.
- Keep ornaments and snow globes out of children's and pet's reach, they may contain lead or other dangerous ingredients and will have sharp edges if broken.
- Children are curious, check for pills, and poisonous products child may access while visiting others.
- Choking hazards: any small object that can fit through a toilet paper roll.
- Install a Carbon Monoxide (CO) detector in your home. CO is an odorless, colorless, poisonous gas. Don't use the oven or gas range to heat your home. Dial 9-1-1 if your detector sounds.

Winter Sports Safety

- Dress appropriately for the sport; wear layers, a hat and/or helmet, gloves and sunscreen.
- Tell someone where you are going and when you expect to return.
- Stay on marked trails.
- Don't walk on frozen ponds or lakes.

PGE's corporate resiliency depends on YOU!

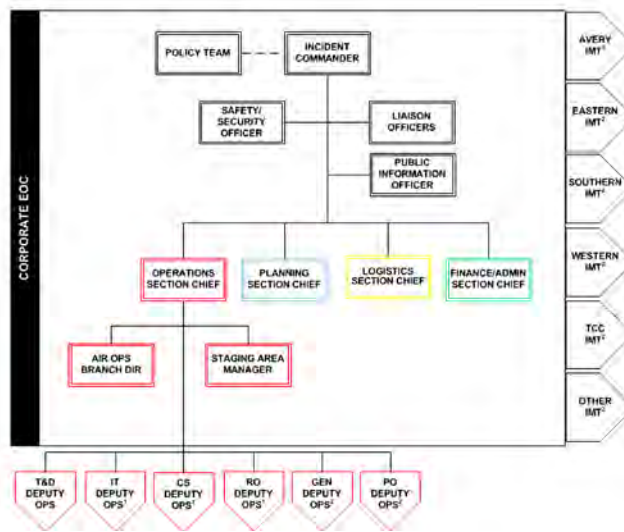

#1 Home/family

It starts with you and ensuring your family is prepared. Every employee needs to be ready to report to work during an emergency.
ready.gov

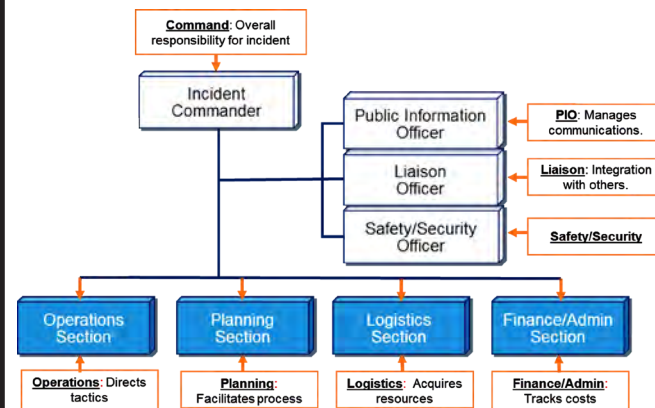

#2 Corporate framework

All PGE employees need to understand the corporate framework for emergency response.

#3 Incident Management Teams (IMTs)

Know Your Emergency Role (KYER).

#4 Annual cycle

Strengthen PGE's capacity and capabilities for emergencies.

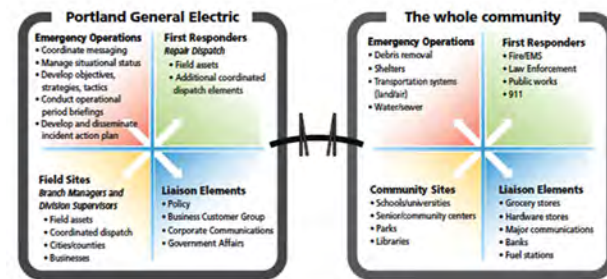

#5 Toolkit components

Planning, training and exercise tools for all business units.

#6 External coordination

Strengthening relationships with our customers and stakeholders.
